The American delegation announced that John Foster Dulles, a United Nations delegate and foreign affairs adviser to Dewey, would fly to New York Sunday at the suggestion of the Republican presidential candidate for conferences on American-Russian relations. #### And President Truman Calls Wall Street Measure

Every taxpayer in the land has a score to settle with President Truman because he vetoed tax reduction in 1947 and tried (although vainly) to veto it

The 1947 bill would have cut taxes 30 per cent in the lower brackets, 10.5 per cent in the higher brackets. Up to the end of 1947, the veto cost persons in the lower brackets about $40, those in the middle brackets about $140.

In the 1948 bill, tax rates were reduced 12.6 per cent on net taxable incomes of $2,000 or less, 7.4 per eent on the balance of incomes up to $136,000, 5 per cent on incomes above that.

We quote from an official instruction slip: "For example, if you are single with no dependents and earn $2,000 a year, the old tax was $249, the new $201. If you earn $3,500, the old tax was $521, the new tax $443." Under another welcome feature, personal and dependency exemptions are increased from $500 each to $600 each, while persons of 65 years or over get an additional exemption of $600.

As a result of these reliefs, grouped in the tax bill passed this year over the President's veto by a Republican Congress, persons of moderate incomesnotably the families of white-collar workers-may find themselves as much as $500 to the good.

And now Harry Truman is explaining to his audiences why he deprived every American of a considerable sum of money last year and did his futile best this year to deprive every American of an additional sum. This was because, while everybody would have some tax relief, and a limited number of persons less than half that relief measured in percentages, the latter would have more relief measured in dollars and cents. Therefore the law is a "Wall Street law."

The President got that thought out of a memorandum submitted by a CIO lawyer whose name has appeared since in the proceedings of the un-American Activities Committee. He is welcome to try it out on $0,000,000 Americans, whom he sought to penalize because the war-tax burden had been lifted slightly on less than one per cent of them!

A psychiatrist has been called in to tell the United Nations how to run the world, but some persons think a phrenologist should have been called.

Bevin's Speech Should Be Received With Gratitude

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin deserves the compliments and gratitude of the western world for his speech before the United Nations General Assembly this week.

Bevin's reply to the Vishinsky "disarmament" speech was not only a withering retort to a sly piece of propaganda; it was a detailed exposure of the whole Soviet record of lying and evasion.

Fully realizing that Stalin and the Politburo may choose to break up the United Nations, as Hitler and his partners smashed the League of Nations, Bevin declared. "If we cannot proceed on a world basis as we had hoped, we must proceed on a regional basis." Whatever may be the machinery for democratic defense against totalitarian tyranny, the western powers

The significant thing about the Vishinsky speech was not what he said but the fact that he got the loudest ovation from the galleries that any speaker. including Secretary Marshall, had received until then at Paris. That was discouraging because it proved that so many well-meaning friends of the UN still worship words, like "disarmament," without examining the realities behind them.

Naturally, Russia would like to see the great powers reduce their armed forces by one-third, and would like to have the atomic bomb outlawed-with no inspection of Russian mines, factories and laboratories. Russia today has a big lead in land power. Unlike the United States, she did not dismantle her army after V-E Day. Russia still probably has a bigger air force than the American. It was to overcome this menacing discrepancy that the United States determined to build up its land and air force.

What could be sweeter from the Soviet standpoint than to maintain her lead and at the same time stifle America's defensive effort by an overall one-third reduction? What could be better for aggressive Russia than to have the United States turn over to UN its atomic secrets and destroy its bomb stockpile, while Russia assumes no international obligations?

It was shocking to read that so many presumed friends of collective peace cheered this transparent sham as a step toward genuine disarmament. But those naive cheers were less significant than the tremendous ovation given Bevin by all the Assembly delegates except the Russians and their satellites. The UN delegates are not being taken in by fancy words which mask a grim and dangerous record of

It is believed no movie will be made of the life of Charles Evans Hughes, the great jurist. He never hit any home runs.

All summer we have sensed vaguely that some such calamity was in the offing., Golden and silver sandals may have graced the feet of Grecian goddesses on Olypian evenings. But ever since modern women and girls were induced to adopt them for daytime wear we have suffered frequent fits of shudders at the spectacle of dusty heels and bulging bunions unconcealed by the gleaming straps.

We can't doubt The Wall Street Journal's prediction. It probably is inevitable that the makers of shoes in gold and silver hues will seek a wider market for them. But this we do say:

The day when men start wearing 'em is likely to be recorded in the story of American civilization's decline and fall, as one of the sadder footnotes.

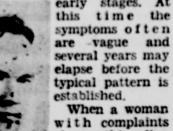

Popular magazine prints a story on "The Sex Life of the Gladiolus." Presumably this is the second chapter in the birds-and-the-bees story.

Myasthenia is a nervous disorder in which the muscles are easily fatigued. The condition is not difficult to diagnose except during the early stages. At consulted Thomas Dr. Van Oellen Willis in 1685 he was quick to realize that she was suffering with something out of the ordinary. He had remarkable talent for locating and isolating important facts in his observations and, therefore, his description of the disease is as good today as it was more than 250 years ago.

Victims of myasthenia gravis are able to move all their muscles, but after a short period of time some of the leaders become so fatigued they no longer contract. With rest, however, strength returns and the cycle begins all over. In the majority the seeing apparatus is involved, especially the muscles which are used to hold up the lids. Many tell of having no trouble awakening in the morning, but after an hour or so the lids begin to droop until the opening amounts to a mere slit. This continues until the patients find time to rest, and following recuperation full use of the lids returns. When the muscles surrounding the throat are involved the victim hardly is able to complete a full meal because the swallowing mechanism is overcome by fatigue and choking ensues. A somewhat similar phenomenon is noticed when the vocal cords are affected. The patient who sought the advice of Willis was bothered in this way and he described her plight as follows: "This person for some time speaks freely and readily enough, but after long, hasty or laborious speaking, presently becomes mute as a fish and cannot bring forth a word. Nay, and does not recover the use of the voice until after many minutes". This is somewhat like stage fright except that the woman was distubed day after day and was not even confronted with an audi-

Not all of these patients are totally incapacitated, as some have difficulty only with the eyes, others with talking, swallowing, holding objects, or walking. In addition, the disease has a tendency to come and go, and now and then the symptoms disappear for months or years. This make it difficult to evaluate the results of treatment because the physician never knows when the temporary cure is spontaneous or the result of his medicine. At any rate many drugs now are available to alleviate the distress, including physostigmin, prostigmin and ephe-

Considerable research now is in progress to determine whether the disease is related to the thymus gland. The association was discovered by accident several years ago when a patient with myasthenia gravis was found to have a tumor of this organ. The gland was removed and all of the muscle symptoms disappeared. Since then, the procedure has been performed on 32 patients suffering with a severe form of the disease. According to Harvey, the results have been encouraging, but more time will be required before the effect of this operation can be judged accurately.

U. S. Overestimated Red Military Strength, Says Gen. Clay; Warns World Conquest Still Soviets' Objective; Ferguson Overruled On Thomas Probe

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 - Gen. Lucius Clay, American military governor in Berlin, told Congressional visitors recently that the United military might.

He said that, while Soviet military power has been magnified out of all proportion, Russia is just as afraid of us and is frantically building defenses against a fancied attack from Crippled by World War II, Russia doesn't have the industrial power or the communications network to back up her vast armies, Clay said. On the other hand, the Soviets have a healthy respect for American power. They expected their blockage to force the Allies out of Berlin within a week, he said, and haven't got over their amazement at the

The General warned, however, that world conquest is still the long-range Soviet goal. He did not expect the Russians to go to war, he said, because it would be too costly. Rather, he expected them to use their familiar tactics of infiltration, propaganda

Our mistake, he warned, would be to fall for the bluff, get panicky and run out of Berlin. That would be a sign of weakness and would be more likely to tempt the Russians into war than a strong stand on our part.

Sen. Ferguson In Reverse

Easiest retort made by any politician when he gets in a tight corner is to yell "liar." A well-known figure on Capitol Hill is doing that right now-Senator Ferguson of

However, here are the facts in the Ferguson claims that though he wanted to probe his Democratic colleague, Sen. Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, for commodity-market speculation, he was overruled by the Senate Expenditures Subcommittee. Thomas' letter, threatening to expose certain facts about Ferguson's son-in-law's operations with Chrysler, did not cause him to drop the investigation, the Senator from Michigan now

However, in December of last year, Ferguson, pounding on his desk, told this column: "I'm going to see this thing through to the finish. You can assure everyone that I'm going through to the limit." That, of course, was before Senator Thomas wrote his devastating letter to Ferguson. At that time also, two other Republican Senators-Bridges of New Hampshire and Aiken of Vermont -helped Ferguson transfer the Thomas probe from the Senate Appropriations Committee to the Expenditures Committee. Reason for the transfer was that Thomas was a member of the Appropriations Committee, also had strong friends -chiefly Tydings of Maryland and Green of Rhode Island-who opposed probing his commodity-market speculations.

Ferguson Fanned Out On the Expenditures Committee.

however, were enough Republicans, plus at least one Democrat, ready to probe the Democratic Senator from Oklahoma. Among them were such Senators with a reputation for courage as Aiken of Vermont, Ives. of New York, Thye of Minnesota, Hickenlooper of Iowa and McCarthy of Wisconsin.

The Republicans have a clear majority on this Committee. They can do pretty much what they pleaseregardless of the Democrats. Furthermore, Ferguson has not hesitated to probe all sorts of people without even bothering to call Commtitee members together.

Ferguson gave west coast airplane-builder Howard Hughes one of the worst grillings in rerecent Senate history without worrying much about the rest of his Committee. He also conducted a withering examination of Ed Pauley and Gen. Wallace Graham, the President's doctor, for allegedly doing exactly the same thing Senator Thomas was doing-using inside knowledge to probe Thomas—until Thomas wrote him the now famed letter of last February 14. Following this, Ferguson quickly and mysteriously dropped the probe. Note-Ferguson claims that his Subcommittee overruled him regarding the Thomas investigation. But the record show no attempt by him to go over the head of his Subcommittee to the full Committee, where he was sure to have been

Ferguson also claims the Thomas letter was published at this time to embarrass his re-election. Actually this writer, who exposed Thomas' commodity dealings in a column dated May 6, 1946, has been writing about this subject off and on for two and a half years; also has been trying to find out the reason for Ferguson's sudden mysterious silence. Politics had absolutely nothing to do with it.

The Congressional critics are Senators Scott Lucas of Illinois and William Fullbright of Arkansas. Their views have been made known privately to the State Department.

While in Paris, Lucas spent

The one outcome of the November election about which any serious doubt is expressed by objectiveminded persons is the political complexion of the new Senate. In the present Senate the party division is close; 51 Republicans, 45 Democrats. Among the thirty-two states in which Senatorial elections will be held in November, there are several in which special conditions could cause the state to elect a Senator one party though going to the other party in the Presidential election. This raises the possibility, at least, that while the country might elect a Republican president by a large majority, the states might elect a Democratic Senate. The serious awkwardness of a government thus divided if it should come about, has led to careful surveys of conditions in the states in which Senatorial elections are to be held. A tenable summary of the over-all condition may be put thus.

Of the seats now held by Republicans, but to be filled in November, there are five that might go to the Democrats. These are in Minnesota, West Virginia, Kentucky, Wyoming, Oklahoma. Similarly, of the seats now held by Democrats but to be filled in November, there are five that might go to the Republicans. These are Montana, New Mexico, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Colorado.

Two Extremes of Possibilities The possibilities thus inherent range between two extremes. The Republicans might hold all their present seats and win five more. which would give them a comfortable majority. Or, the Democrats might hold all their present seats and win five more, which would give them a narrow majority. Surveys of the whole condition range between these extremes. The factors which might make any one state, in the Senatorial election, go from Republican to Democratic or vice versa, differ in each state. These are examined minutely by leaders of both parties, and both make strenuous efforts to take advantage of the local conditions. But there is a nationwide factor which probably weighs more than any one local condition.

About any mass movement, such as a national election is, there is a kind of rough rule for anticipatory judgment by persons who speculate about the outcome. As applied to upward and downward movements on the Stock Exchange, it is expressed thus: A bull movement always goes higher than you thought it would and a bear movement goes lower than you thought it would. It is much the same as to national elections in which a tide exists. If there is a tide at all it is likely to go higher than was expected. An extreme example was the presidential campaign of 1936. Then there was a tide in favor of Roosevelt and the Democrats was felt by many persons. But it would probably be difficult to find anyone, however expert in judgment or well-endowed with political prescience, who during the 1936 campaign, thought Roosevelt would carry every state except Maine and Vermont. In the present campaign if there is a tide in favor of Governor Dewey and the Republicans, it is likely to go higher than is now anticipated. And its height would be likely to carry Senatorial elections now regarded as doubtful; Republican candidates would, in a political phrase, be carried into the Senate "on Mr. Dewey's coattails." A Republican president by a large majority would be likely to mean a Republican Senate by a comfortable majority.

Mr. Dewey and the Republicans is a common judgment. Though another way of expressing it might say that there is a tide against President Truman and the Democrats, a tide of which the dynamic force is a widespread wish of voters to turn the "ins" out, to retire the party that has been in power 15 years. 'It is now three weeks since a well-qualified conductor and analyst of political polls, Mr. Elmo Roper of Fortune Magazine and the New York Herald Tribune, announced that during the remainder of the campaign he would not publish polls of the standings of the candidates. He said that polls taken up to that time had convinced him that Mr.

Supporting GOP Candidates

Liberal Democratic Paper

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1-When a newspaper which has supported Democratic candidates for the presidency in nearly all jelections during the last 46 years announces that it will this year support Governor Dewey, the reasons given for such action constitute a significant development.

The "Oregon Journal," although independent in its attitude toward all parties, has been regarded in Portland and outside as a Democratic newspaper. Only in 1940, when it turned to Wendell Willkie, did the Journal veer from its adherence to the Democratic Party in presidential campaigns. It turned then because it opposed a third term, but it nevertheless supported the late President Roosevelt in 1944 when the war was on Dissatisfied With Abuse

It is interesting to note that among other reasons the Oregon Journal has expressed dissatisfaction with the abusive type of campaign that President Truman has been waging. Here is what the Journal said, in part, in its announcement:

"As an independent newspaper, the Journal has followed the present presidential campaign with deep interest and concern and has determined to support Governor Dewey for the presidency. The reasons are: "We have had a Democratic administration for 16 years and, except for the recent loss of congressional control, the federal government has been in the hands of the Demo-"President Truman - pathetically brave, and sound in his demands for price reduction and more housing-in descending to the level of his Missouri training in campaign vilification, has lost leadership of the nation. "Governor Dewey has abstained from class appeal and yet has tacitly recognized in his appeal for labor harmony that the American institutions, law and liberty, could not continue without the faith and support of men who toil with their hands. Above all, Governor Dewey holds a deep responsibility of America's new world leadership. Unity at home he correctly defines as the way to win the peace, just as unity was the secret of winning the war.

"In 16 years, bureaucratic agencies have multiplied and no bureaucrat ever willingly leaves the payroll.

Dewey promises a spring housecleaning in January. It is necessary. "Governor Dewey cannot alone do all that he pledges. The support of the Congress is not only essential but is candidly the biggest chance he takes in view of the record of the 80th Congress. He has, however, more support, less divided, than anything President Truman can command. If in November the Democrats win a Senate majority, his position would be more difficult

"He has a proof of liberalism in his running mate, Governor Earl Warren of California, who Governor Dewey promises is to be a full partner in his administration. In these grave times, both at home and abroad, unity, constructive action, economic progress, the broadening of liberties and the blessings of peace are inseparably related to the future of America and, we think, to the survival of this civilization. For these reasons, the Journal supports the candidacy of Governor Dewey.

Liberalism Unquestioned The Oregon Journal is regarded as one of the most important newspapers on the Pacific Coast. Its Liberalism is unquestioned. It certainly has championed that cause consistently.

Inasmuch as Governor Dewey campaigned in Oregon in the primaries, the Journal had an opportunity to familarize itself with Dewey's way of handling himself with the people. More important, however, has been the Dewey behavior since he accepted the responsibilities of a candidate who in all probability wil become the next President. The American people like to feel that their candidates for high office are not lacking in dignity. The contrast between the Dewey and Truman type of campaigns is growing so noticeable as to cause discussion on every side. Mr. Truman is defeating himself with the independent voters. The Oregon Journal's stand is sympoomatic of the attitude of the independents who do not consider themselves partisans in any presidential election but who find it necessary to swing their support to the candidate who gives the maximum promise of a respectful as well as conscientious approach to the problems of the day.

These Days By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Wallace Campaign

AST SPRING, the betting was that Henry Wallace would get at least 5,000,000 votes. No one experienced with American politics would bet that way today.

It is now calculated that Henry might at most 3,000,000 Many competent men would estimate that that is high because Wallace is definitely slipping as the campaign proceeds.

The shift in judgment is due to the growing certainty that Henry Wallace's Progressive Party is a Communist front: that those who control the Communist apparatus in the United States control the Progressive Party. Wallace's speeches read as though they were written in the Kremlin. If it is false that Wallace has become a slave of the Communists; if it is false that he closely follows the Kremlin line, it is his own fault that his own countrymen have come to think that way about him. That is the picture he now paints of himself. just as at another period he liked to be thought a mystic and queer.

The Communists do not believe in the two-party system. To them it seems a ridiculous institution, outworn and outmoded. They believe in a oneparty system. Their idea is that whoever takes the power holds it as long as he can for whatever purposes he chooses. They do not speak of being elected to office: the phrase they employ is "seizing power."

Thus the Communist Party Plat-

"Millions of American working people have come to realize the futility of any further support for the bankrupt two-party system of big business. Both major parties are committed to the bipartisan war program, reflected in both the Truman Doctrine and its New Look version the Marshall Plan. Both major parties are united in this program of fattening the billionaires and bleeding the taxpayers."

Then this same platform says: "Millions of Americans, disillusioned with the two-party system, have given birth to a new people's

"The new Progressive party is an inescapeable historic necessity for millions who want a real choice between peace and war ,democracy or fascism, security or poverty.

"The Communists, who support every popular progressive movement, naturally welcome this new people's party. We supported the progressive features of Roosevelt's Ner Deal. We helped organize the C.I.O. in the 1930's, we have supported every democratic movement since the Communists of Lincoln's generation fought in the Union cause during the Civil War.". We can skip that part about the Civil War because the Communists of 1848 and thereafter were not even remotely the ancestors of the Stalinist apparatus for world conquest. Karl Marx, as a correspondent of Horace Greeley's New York Tribune, was even friendly to the Republican Party-but what difference does that make? Otherwise, Dewey would win by an overwhelming majority, and he did not wish to be in the position of reporting a race when in fact there was no race at all.

Since then, has President Truman's position been improved by his Western tour or otherwise? The answer of newsmen who have been with either or both Mr. Truman and Mr. Dewey on their Western tours, is reported by Mr. Dewey Fleming in the Baltimore Sun. He says the net judgment of the newsmen is that of the 16 states which either or both candidates campaigned in. Mr. Dewey will carry 11, Mr. Truman barely five.

the Communist boast is true. They did support the New Deal and they did organize the C.I.O.

And Wallace has accepted it as good in spite of the irrefutable evidence with which he must be familiar, that while he was Secretary of Agriculture, Secretary of Commerce, head of NBEW, and Vice President of the United States, these same Communists were sabotaging and betraying his country in the interest of a foreign power -for a time, it is true, an awkward and sullen ally, now an open enemy.

The Communists say:

"We Communists are dedicated to the proposition that the great American dream of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness will be realized only under socialism, a system of society in which the major means of production will be collectively owned and operated under a government based on the working class. . ." Henry Walface has never repudiated the support of those who hold such views. Therefore, he has been repudiated by most of American labor and even by the Negroes whom he sought to mobilize in his interest. He has gambled the respect and good-will of Americans for the support of a foreign power and its traitorous agents in his own country. And it was a bad gamble, even politically, because it will not bring him anything, not even votes. If Henry Wallace's vote is small, he will cease to be a factor in American politics. (Copyright, 1948, King Peatures Syndicate, Inc.)

We see only wires! But at this very moment a woman in San Francisco may be speaking to her husband in Shanghai . . . a boy at Princeton may be inviting a girl in Albuquerque to a football game . . . and Mrs. Green of R. D. No. 1 may be placing her order with Mr. Brown of the Crossroads Store.

Here — where sixty wires cling to the cross-arms of a weathered pole the ends of the earth meet!

It's like that in our local churches on Communion Sunday. Whether fifty or five hundred receive the Holy Sacrament . . . the ends of the earth meet. For the Lord's Supper is not a rite of one church or one denomination. It is the common sacramental feast of millions of Christians all over the world.

Are you availing yourself of this blessed privilege, and are you attending your church regularly? As you receive this Sacrament in your church, your life is linked to the lives of Christians everywhere. And you and they are united in a common communion with God!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL .-.. ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
